

Data Box Information System

BEFORE

Citizens, businesses, institutions or clerks who needed to communicate officially to each other had to follow specific procedures to make all communication or submissions valid. For many documents, it was necessary to confirm the identity of the sending/signing side before processing. Therefore, a simple email was not enough. Every change called for the repetition of the whole process. This led to an extra amount of administrative work, a need to visit all relevant institutions during their opening hours, etc. In 2008, thanks to the Czech POINT offices, a significant improvement was achieved with more than 7,000 offices to date across the Czech Republic and covering multiple administrative processes, including signature verification and identification. But it was still necessary to visit offices for identification and signature validation.

SINCE 2009 - DELIVERY OF HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF LEGALLY-BINDING DOCUMENTS

With the new system of Data Boxes in place, each person is identified when creating their databox (personal or commercial). All messages are digitally signed, and their validity is the same as for authorized paper forms. It is mandatory for legal entities and institutions to have a databox. Therefore, you only need one visit to a Czech POINT office to create a databox and then you are able to communicate with all institutions remotely, even from abroad.
